Learning Objectives:

- Discuss societal norms and pressures related to masculinity as they pertain to male college students and their stage of identity development and interpersonal relationships.
- Consider the role of social media in the promotion of these social norms.
- Explore issues related to the intersectionality of gender with social class, race, sexuality, and international student status.
- Discuss issues related to bullying, violence, and substance abuse and their potential impact on male college students.
- Address the ethical considerations in working with male college students with these presenting concerns.

William Ming Liu, PhD., is Professor and Program Coordinator of Counseling Psychology at The University of Iowa. In recent reviews, he has been identified as one of the most frequent producers of research in the Psychology of Men and Masculinity and among the most cited in multicultural competency research. He is an editor of the forthcoming Handbook of Social Class in Counseling (Oxford). He is the Editor-Elect for the Psychology of Men and Masculinity. He is currently the President of the Board of Directors for the Shelter House, a transitional shelter for individuals and families who are homeless.

Jonathan Schwartz, Ph.D., is the Associate Dean for Graduate Studies in the College of Education at the University of Houston. He is the current president of Division 51, Psychology of Men and Masculinity, of the American Psychological Association. Dr. Schwartz has published in the area of men and masculinity, prevention, and intimate violence. Dr. Schwartz was recently named a Fellow of Division 17, Society of Counseling Psychology of the American Psychological Association.

- Three hours: $115 early bird, $130 regular, $145 on-site
- Two days: $250 early bird, $275 regular, $300 on-site
- For $50, students are welcome to attend (please bring your student ID)
- Groups of three or more registering together receive a 20% discount (this discount is not available to students)
- Payment must be received by May 1 for Early Bird
- Payment must be received by May 22 for Regular registration & parking request
- No refunds after May 22, 2015

Please refer to this website for further information - http://scs.tamu.edu/?q=node/167